

Tables and chairs

Attractive design and high flexibility

Sophistication and comfort for everyday care

Having a meal in a nice bistro, a coffee in a buzzing hotel lobby – the small things in life that bring a smile to our face, just as they do to the residents of care homes and residential homes, who thrive on being provided with the comfort of living an active and autonomous life. Stieglmeyer's tables and chairs are designed to help people with restricted mobility to lead just such a life. Our furniture is designed to add a touch of sophistication and to create a comfortable and welcoming atmosphere in every nursing home or residential care facility. Not only that, but it is also a benchmark for a very high level of safety and stability.

Our wide range of designs, colours and decors means that our tables and chairs can easily be adapted to suit all kinds of settings and styles. Designed to facilitate residents' independence and autonomy – our furniture brings smiles back into everyone's life.

Mavo

For a dining room with an individual note

A chair with character – our Mavo chairs are an inviting feature in any room. Their solid beech frames make them extremely sturdy and at the same time give them very clear lines and a contemporary look. The standard handle at the top of the backrest provides a welcome extra support for residents and care staff when moving about the room. The double-coated finish of the chair allows it to easily withstand all the rigours of everyday care.

Mavo is available in 3 versions: with and without armrests and as a high back chair with a particularly high backrest. This makes our Mavo chairs suitable for use by people of all sizes and allows care facilities to cater to a wide range of different needs. The slightly angled armrests are extremely comfortable. All variants can easily be stacked whenever the room requires cleaning or the need for more space arises.

Fena with a handle

Enjoying everyday life in a stylish ambience

Our Fena chairs have soft lines and a playful design. Both the backrest and seat are gently curved to ideally accommodate the shape of the human body. The wooden frame at the side of the backrest really stand out. The handle at the top of the backrest has a pleasantly rounded shape and is a perfect support for residents when standing. The chair has been designed without any sharp edges or corners, for added safety.

Fena chairs are extremely comfortable and highly ergonomic. At the same time, they lend a look of discreet elegance to any room. Fena chairs are also available in 3 different stackable versions: with and without armrests and as a high back chair with armrests.

Fena without a handle

Coffee house atmosphere in your own home

A chair with a sophisticated design that shows the colours of the chair cover to best advantage – the Fena without a handle. The ergonomically curved backrest is completely covered with fabric, which gives the chair a very comfortable look.

Our Fena chairs without a handle are also very good value and are available both with and without armrests. A third Fena version, which has a high backrest and armrests, offers even greater comfort and security.

Our heavy-duty range

Heavy-duty chairs

A strong duo for heavier residents

It's a well-known fact that people in the West have gradually started getting taller over time. In recent years, yet another trend has made itself felt, and that is the tendency for people in developed countries to have also significantly gained in body weight. A lot of care facilities have consequently adapted their furniture to accommodate this fact. Stiegmeyer's heavy-duty chairs are ideal for catering to the needs of heavier residents.

Our heavy-duty Mavo and Fena chairs without a handle have an extra wide seat and are built to support a higher safe working load of 180 kg. This allows even larger and heavier residents to enjoy the comfort and safety offered by a well-designed and attractive chair.

Optional castors on the Mavo's front chair legs make it easier to straighten the chair.

Tables

The perfect complement

In order to gain the full benefit of the various situations in which our chairs can be used, we highly recommend pairing them with the right table. For this reason, we have designed a wide range to choose from: Bistro tables with a round top for creating a more vibrant atmosphere, dining tables that offer plenty of space and are very comfortable to eat at, and side tables and coffee tables that will seamlessly blend into any room. The latest addition to our range – column-leg tables – feature an attractive combination of metal columns and round or square wooden table tops.

All our tables are available in a wide choice of decors. This means that they can be designed to match your chairs and so give you maximum flexibility when it comes to creating a welcoming space for residents.

Empero

A clean look achieved with rectangular legs

Our Empero tables will stand out in any room thanks to their solid rectangular legs. Empero tables have both a very clean design and an elegant appearance. They are available as a large dining table, a trapezoid table, a dining table with a round table top, a coffee table and a more delicate side table. Produced using high-quality materials and expert craftsmanship, these tables are made for a long service life.

Luna

Seating furniture for exclusive sitting comfort

The seating furniture in the Luna range creates an elegant salon atmosphere in every waiting room or lounge. With wooden armrests or optional wings, the armchairs and sofas combine high comfort and clean lines with stylish cosiness. The comfortable sofas can also accommodate larger get-togethers – ideal for promoting social life in a nursing home, for example.

A large selection of high-quality fabrics and a wide choice of wood tones are available to suit every interior design. Thorough furniture cleaning is easy due to the removable cushions. The Luna range brings a new sense of well-being to your facility.

Camado and Camado movo

The recliner chair for optimal support in everyday care

Spending extended periods participating in everyday life at eye level – our Camado recliner chair makes it possible. If the resident tires and needs a break, the backrest and leg rest can simply be inclined at the touch of a button. The resident can relax in this comfortable position without having to transfer to their bed. The mobile version Camado movo is a safe and comfortable transport chair. Protected at the sides by the stable armrests, the resident can be transferred to the bathroom or dining room in it. With two brakable castors, the Camado movo has a secure stance at all times.

▲ The Camado is a comfortable and beautifully designed recliner chair.

With our Pleto server, meals taken in the Camado become a pleasure.

▲ The Camado movo transport chair can be wheeled effortlessly.

Colours and decors

Colours can contribute to our well-being and make it easier for older people to recognise furniture and rooms. This is why we at Stieglmeyer offer a wide range of different finishes for our furniture. Chair covers are available in a range of high-quality fabrics and faux leather, ranging from Delius to Ambla. Our range of colour options includes warm reds and oranges to vibrant greens and elegant blues. The wooden frames are available in a variety of decors. There are countless ways to adapt each chair perfectly to its surroundings. We would be pleased to advise you.
